

Project 1: Listening and Leadership

Translated by Julien Lamarche on 2014/12/10 from p.12 of “Devenir un leader”, Rev. 2/09.

Executive summary: Knowing how to listen is essential for a leader. Knowing how to listen assists you in obtaining informations, which will help you to identify and clarify obstacles, to make decisions, to resolve conflicts and to show creativity. Listening skills also play an important role in the team building.

Evaluator (“Évaluateur”)

Name of evaluator : _____ Date: _____

1. Was the leader attentive? Did his attitude demonstrate interest for what the evaluator was saying?

Note: Translation is provided here, but please answer the questions in the book. Questions numbers correspond.

2. Did the oral evaluation demonstrate that he or she listened and understood the content of the speech?
3. Did he show an open mind in his evaluation of the presentation even though he did not agree with the content?
4. What could he have done to improve his listening skills?
5. What particular listening skills did he show?

Table topics participant (“Improvisateur”)

Name of evaluator : _____ Date: _____

1. Did the leader understand quickly the subject of the topic?

Note: Translation is provided here, but please answer the questions in the book. Questions numbers correspond.

2. Did his answer prove that he understood the question?
3. What could he have done to improve his listening?
4. What particular listening skills did he show?

Gramarian (“Gramarien”)

Name of

evaluator : _____

Date: _____

1. Did the leader show a sustained attention by listening to the different speakers? Did his attitude show interest towards the other speakers?

Note: Translation is provided here, but please answer the questions in the book.
Questions numbers correspond.

2. Did he seemed focus on grammatical errors as well as good usage of grammar?
3. What could he have done to improve his listening?
4. What particular listening skills did he show?

Ah counter (“Compteur d'hésitation”)

Name of

evaluator : _____

Date: _____

1. Did the leader show sustain listening to the different speakers? Did he show interest in what they were saying?

Note: Translation is provided here, but please answer the questions in the book.
Questions numbers correspond.

2. Did he seemed focus on the verbal ticks of the speakers?
3. What could he have done to improve his listening?
4. What particular listening skills did he show?